The Police

The police had been unable to find the three friends, but my family and I had very worried.

Everything started when my daughter Anne and her friends Debbie and Monica decided to go out, perhaps for cinema or mall, nobody knew for they didn't say where they would go.

It had already was two days and existed no news about them, so on the third day I was watching TV when the journalist said that three girls had been rescued from a car which had crashed near the Blue beach and they had been taken to the Central Hospital. From the same time my heart almost jumped out of my body and I ran over there.

Monica, my daughter's friend, was driving calm on the road when suddenly she lost control of the car, they fell off the mountain and the car only stopped when it hit a rock near the beach. They three lost consciousness.

Fortunately, some surfers saw the car and they called the ambulance.

I was very relieved see my daughter and her friends saved.
