When I Arrived

As soon as I arrived, I could sense that something was out of place. It was so strange because I have ever been a very observant person and I noticed anything was wrong.

I started walking around my home when suddenly I could see that my window had been broken, then I saw a message into a rock that said: "I love you, currently I have always been in love with you"

I can't believe that nightmare was coming back into my life.

A long time ago I had insane friend called Brian, who had fallen in love with me, but he had been arrested because of drugs. However, I couldn't understand this message because he was locked away in Central Prison. At that very moment, I saw him on the broken window. He had escaped!

I carefully took my cellphone and rang up to the police. Fortunately, there was a police car in my street, they arrived quickly and arrested Brian again.
