

Podcast Questions - Cloudflare Launched A Tool To Keep Bots From Scraping Data To Train AI

Listen to a 5-minute podcast from Daily Tech Headlines, review the vocabulary, answer the questions, and have a discussion.

Vocabulary you can preview

content	cloud service	bot	traffic
detection	crawlers	bad actors	feud
algorithm	semiconductor	escalation	outage

Comprehension questions

1. What does Cloudflare's new tool stop?
2. What does scraping websites to train AI mean?
3. Why are Apple and Epic Games in a feud?
4. What does YouTube's updated eraser tool do?
5. What is driving the rising profit in Samsung Electronics's semiconductor sales?
6. What changes do European Union regulators want to see with X?
7. "Server issues" on Amazon Kindle created an outage. How did that affect e-readers?
8. What is WhatsApp's new feature?
9. How does the removal of the Nike Adapt App affect self-lacing sneaker owners?

Discussion Questions

1. Do you have a website? If yes, what is your website's content? And do you use CloudFlare? Why or why not? (If you don't have a website, would you like to start one? Why or why not?)
2. What's your opinion about AI bots scraping websites for information? Why?
3. Do you think it's a good idea to use a tool like Cloudflare to stop bots and crawlers from scraping websites? Why or why not?
4. Epic Games claims that Apple is "arbitrarily" stopping their games from being available on Apple products in Europe. Do you think Apple is being arbitrary? Or do you think Apple has a reason for hindering Epic Games? Why?
5. YouTube content creators often complain about music copyright claims on their videos. What's your opinion on copyrighted music on YouTube videos? Should YouTube creators be allowed to use copyrighted music? Why or why not?
6. If you had the chance to work for a semiconductor company, would you? Why or why not?
7. Do you read e-books? Why or why not?
8. If you read e-books, where do you get your books? Why?
9. Have you used WhatsApps new AI image function? If yes, what did you think? If not, have you ever used AI generated images on another app or website? Why and what did you think?
10. Have you heard of self-lacing sneakers before? What's your opinion on self-lacing sneakers?